International Workshop and Symposium on Sustainable Rural Development

From 22 to 26 August 2024

At University of Heng Samrin Tbong Khmum (UHST), Cambodia

Theme

Sustainable Rural Development based on Natural Resource Application

Organized by

- International Society of Environmental and Rural Development (ISERD)
- RCE Greater Phnom Penh (RCE GPP), UNU-IAS
- Research Center, Institute of Environmental Rehabilitation and Conservation (ERECON)
- University of Heng Samrin Tbong Khmum (UHST), Cambodia

Background and Aims

The International Workshop and Symposium on Sustainable Rural Development aims to promote sustainable development in the rural area of Tbong Khmum Province, Cambodia through the field workshops with local residents. In the workshops, various tools of PRA (Participatory Rural Appraisal) or other methods are applied with local residents to look for applicable resources or strategies in the target area. The outcomes from the workshops with local residents are presented and discussed in the symposium held at University of Heng Samrin Tbong Khmum (UHST), Cambodia. Participants with specific scientific background are expected to propose various ideas that can be adapted by local residents in the rural area of Tbong Khmum Province. The outcomes are e-published with ISSN.
