Aims and Expected Outcomes

The International Workshop and Symposium on Sustainable Rural Development aims to promote sustainable development in the rural community of Tbong Khmum Province, Cambodia through the field workshops with local residents. In the workshops, various tools of PRA (Participatory Rural Appraisal) or other methods are applied with local residents to look for applicable resources or strategies in the target area. The outcomes from the workshops with local residents are presented and discussed in the symposium held at the venue hosted by University of Heng Samrin Thbongkhmum (UHST), Cambodia. Participating fellows with specific scientific background are expected to propose various ideas that can be adapted by local residents in the rural community of Tbong Khmum Province. The outcomes are e-published with ISSN.
